

New! Coming April 13, 2010

Cumberland Reverse Trade Show; A twist on the traditional trade show which allows vendors to visit government display booths to discuss potential procurement of their products or services. The show is one part of the province's new Supplier Development Program, which is intended to build and strengthen relationships between public and private interests in Nova Scotia. As a result, the program should help local businesses, such as yours; sell goods and services to all levels of government. Come and talk to representatives from provincial, federal, and municipal governments as well as academic institutions, school boards and hospitals.

Tuesday April 13, 2010
